Map 2 - Rowley, Ipswich, Hamilton, Topsfield, Georgetown and Boxford - FOR MORE INFORMATION

Trail marking: BCT is marked with dollar-bill sized white blazes everywhere except in Appleton Farm Grass Rides.

Trail uses: BCT and other trails are generally open to all non-motorized uses and closed to all motorized uses with a few exceptions. Horses are not permitted in Appleton Farms Grass Rides nor on some trails in Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary at certain times. Dogs prohibited in Ipswich River Sanctuary. ORV use is permitted only on certain trails in Georgetown-Rowley SF. Snowmobiles permitted on certain trails in Bradley Palmer SP and Georgetown-Rowley SF. See DEM maps for details. Most trails are suitable for cross-country skiing. Most are open to mountain bikes, but the glacial eskers are fragile. Bike with care with the land in mind. Equestrians are frequent on most, and mountain bikers in particular need to be careful not to frighten the horses.

Map 2 - Rowley, Ipswich, Hamilton, Topsfield, Georgetown, Boxford - THE JEWELS

Prospect Hill (DCR; 90 acres) - This parcel, including the summit of Prospect Hill, was acquired by the state in 1995 with the help of the BCA and others. It is a glacial drumlin rising 267' above sea level, providing a spectacular view from Cape Ann to the Isles of Shoals in NH and Mt. Agamenticus in Maine. BCT passes over the summit.

Ipswich Town and Water Dept. Lands - Forested lands behind Dow Brook and Bull Brook Reservoirs make a very pleasant area for walking. Good view down Bull Brook Reservoir where the BCT crosses one end of it.

Willowdale State Forest--Pine Swamp Section (DCR; 2400 acres) - beautiful forest, eskers and wetlands, criss-crossed by numerous old carriage roads and trails. Getting lost is easy, but trjcts have recently been marked with numbers. Map in 1999 edition of BC Guide to Walks in and around Ipswich shows numbers. Map online www.mass.gov/dcr Click on "trails". BCT thru Willowdale is described in BTA/BOLT and Ipswich guides. The BCT 3-way junction where the Hamilton branch and the Rowley/Newburyport branch meet is in the center of the Pine Swamp section and is labeled with trail signs. A favorite area of equestrians. Bicyclists should use caution.

Willowdale State Forest--Hood Pond Section (DCR; 2400 acres) - Some of the most spectacular glacial eskers on the BCT, as well as numerous kettle holes and vernal pools. From Linebrook Rd at Hood Pond to Rowley Rd the BCT runs mostly on top of an esker, very steep at points

Cleveland Farm State Forest (DCR) - Acquired in 1997 with help from the former owners (the Haynes family), BTA/BOLT, Boxford Conservation Fund, and Essex Country Greenbelt. Contains many eskers and wetlands and helps protect a fragile environment. BCT runs along the northern edge for a short distance. Trail map is included in the new edition of the Boxford Bay Circuit guidebook. Also on DCR Willowdale map.

Georgetown-Rowley State Forest (DCR; 1,112 acres) - Split by I-95, but a footbridge connects the two sides and carries the BCT over the highway. Certain trails are open to ORV's and snowmobiles, including part of the BCT. Impressive eskers near the eastern edge. Map available at BPSF hq and online www.mass.gov/dcr Click on "trails" and in BTA/BOLT guidebook to Boxford trails

Harlan P. Kelsey Arboretum (Horticultural Society of Boxford; 4.2 acres) - protected remnant of a 500 acre nursery with many plants brought from No.Carolina. Paths thru former show garden. Visitor center and parking to be developed. P along Hemlock Rd (on BCT)

Chapman Lane - Beautiful views; enjoy this old cart lane to the center of Boxford. Part of the Lane has been permanently protected by a BTA/BOLT land purchase

Boxford Historic District - BCT passes thru; many fine old buildings, described in BTA/BOLT guidebook to Boxford trails

Lockwood Forest - BCT goes thru the Lockwood/Moore estate conservation land and over private land protected by a conservation restriction. Views of the pond on Fish Brook, rhododendrons and azaleas. Respect owners' privacy by keeping to south side of field near pond. Historic forge and mill sites

Appleton Farms Grass Rides and Appleton Farms, Ipswich (TTOR; 917 acres) - wide vistas and many broad formal trails, originally intended for equestrians and horse-drawn carriages (horses and dogs banned from various areas. Check TTOR website for rules and more info). Detour off the BCT up the hill to the north edge of the property and an extensive view over Appleton Farms, in continuous cultivation since the 1600's. It will be continued as a working farm. A master use plan is being drawn. It is easy to get lost in the Grass Rides. Follow the red TTOR disks that mark the BCT/Discover Hamilton Trail here, or obtain the detailed map for sale by TTOR. When you get to the monument (the setting will surprise you), note on which trail you entered the clearing. The BCT continues on the trail directly opposite. Popular for cross-country skiing, but the small parking area is often full on weekends; cars parked along Cutler Rd will be towed. Try parking at Bradley Palmer S.F. and skiing or walking BCT to Grass Rides and back

Harvard Forest in Hamilton - Harvard University owns a tract on both sides of the MBTA rail line; contains some unusual tree species. For more details see the Discover Hamilton trail guide available from the Hamilton Conservation Commission. The BCT passes through a small corner of this forest

Pingree Reservation (Essex County Greenbelt) - acquired recently as a gift from the Pingree family. It is an important part of the protection of Black Brook and provides a trail link to Bradley Palmer State Forest. Several trails, some on eskers, but no complete trail map yet

Bradley Palmer State Park (DCR; 721 acres)- high hills, a wading pool, a steeplechase course and the Ipswich River flowing along one side. BCT/Discover Hamilton Trail winds through it. Map available free at park hq and online: www.mass.gov/dcr Click on "trails". Trails are also shown on Discover Hamilton trail map and BC Guide to Walks in Ipswich. 978-887-5931

Ipswich River - wonderful flat-water canoeing. The IRWA publishes an excellent canoeing map and occasionally leads canoe trips. Canoes can be rented at Audubon's Ipswich Sanctuary and from Foote Brothers on Topsfield Rd

Willowdale Mill (Essex County Greenbelt) - at the north-east corner of Bradley Palmer on Winthrop St; can be reached from BCT by a lovely trail along the Ipswich River downstream from the footbridge where the BCT crosses

Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary (Massachusetts Audubon; 2,267 acres) - 10 miles of trails, including esker trail overlooking Wenham Swamp and an incredible rock garden. Canoes for rent in summer; limited camping on islands by prior arrangement. Courses and birding walks offered for adults and children. Trail map available for loan or purchase. Small admission fee for non-members. Closed Mondays. Horses, dogs, bicycling prohibited. Access from Perkins Row, off Rte 97 south of Rte 1 jct 978-887-9264 <www.massaudubon.org>

Julia Bird Reservation (Essex County Greenbelt) - A little-known but beautiful reservation on the Ipswich River downstream from Bradley Palmer. Steep banks overlook the river. Limited parking off Waldingfield Rd west of the RR bridge
